Purpose of this document

This guide gives referrers a clear picture of what Buzprout charges, why those prices exist, and how to set expectations when sending clients our way.

It covers:

- One-time build pricing (websites and systems)
- Payment options when clients cannot pay everything upfront
- Ongoing care after launch
- Add-ons and what clients pay separately
- A worked example for a beauty / booking business (The Beauty Refinery JA)

Published ranges are starting points. Every client gets a firm quote after a free discovery call, once scope is clear.

How Buzprout prices work

Buzprout is not a template shop. We help Caribbean businesses fix real problems: more bookings, fewer manual messages, better customer experience. We do that using websites, booking flows, and custom tools.

Our pricing model:

1. Identify the business outcome: what is the problem costing them in time, revenue, or trust?
2. Match a tier: Entry (visibility), Growth (conversion), Systems (operations), or Retainers (ongoing improvement)
3. Quote a firm price: after a free call, not before

If a client only says "I need a website," the right question is: What problem should that website solve? A brochure site and a booking-dependent salon site are not the same investment.

Nothing is free: there is always a cost

Clients often assume that because hosting or database tiers can start cheap, the whole thing should stay cheap forever. That is not how live business technology works.

Every project and every live site carries cost in one or more forms:

Cash: professional design and development, hosting, domain renewal, database usage, backups, and ongoing care.

Time: the client or their staff troubleshooting outages, updating prices manually, or chasing broken booking links.

Opportunity: stale prices on the site, a broken booking flow over a busy weekend, or customers who leave because the site does not work or look credible.

Platform rent is not care. Hosting, deployment, and database services provide infrastructure. They do not update service menus, fix bugs after software updates, or answer when the Book button stops working on a Friday night.

Referrers can help clients understand: the build fee creates the asset; the care fee keeps it reliable; infrastructure bills are separate and still need someone to own them.

Build packages: one-time project fees

Prices below are ranges. Final quotes depend on pages, integrations, content readiness, and complexity.

Entry: Visibility

For businesses that need to be found online and look credible.

Starter Website: JMD $40,000 to $95,000 (~USD $250 to $600)

Timeline: 7 to 10 days

Outcome: A professional presence customers can trust, mobile-ready, with basic search visibility.

Good for: New businesses, simple service listings, contact-focused sites.

Landing Page: JMD $25,000 to $60,000 (~USD $160 to $380)

Timeline: 3 to 5 days

Outcome: One focused page built to convert ad clicks and promotions into enquiries.

Good for: Campaigns, single offers, event promotions.

Brand Starter Kit: JMD $60,000 to $150,000 (~USD $380 to $950)

Outcome: Logo, colours, fonts, and a simple brand guide for consistent use across cards and social.

Good for: Businesses launching or refreshing before a site build.

Growth: Conversion

For businesses that need bookings, leads, and a site that supports revenue.

Business Website + Systems: JMD $120,000 to $280,000 (~USD $760 to $1,770)

Timeline: 3 to 6 weeks

Outcome: A site that captures leads and gives the business a simple way to manage enquiries and bookings.

Good for: Salons, clinics, restaurants, professional services, and most growing SMEs.

This is Buzprout's most common recommendation when the site is part of how the business operates.

Tourism Website: JMD $140,000 to $320,000 (~USD $890 to $2,025)

Outcome: Turn browsers into booking requests for tours, stays, and experiences.

Good for: Tour operators, guest houses, experience providers.

Logistics / Delivery Lite: JMD $220,000 to $550,000 (~USD $1,400 to $3,480)

Outcome: Customer tracking and a team dashboard instead of endless status calls.

Good for: Couriers, delivery services, dispatch-heavy operations.

Systems: Operations

For businesses that need software built around how they actually run.

Custom Business Platform: JMD $550,000 to $2M+ (~USD $3,500+)

Timeline: 6 to 16+ weeks

Outcome: Software for staff, customers, and admins, workflows, data, and integrations designed for the operation.

Good for: Multi-location businesses, internal dashboards, complex booking or inventory needs.

MVP / Startup Build: JMD $350,000 to $1.2M (~USD $2,200 to $7,600)

Timeline: 8 to 14 weeks

Outcome: A real product users can touch, focused on learning fast.

Good for: Startups validating an idea before a full platform build.

Common add-ons

Quoted separately when not included in the base package:

- Extra pages: JMD $5,000 to $15,000 each
 - Booking system: JMD $30,000 to $100,000
 - Admin dashboard: JMD $60,000+
 - API integrations: JMD $50,000 to $150,000
 - AI chatbot: JMD $60,000 to $250,000
 - Speed optimization: JMD $15,000 to $50,000

Payment options: how clients can pay the build

Not every client can pay the full build upfront. Buzprout offers structured options; the right one depends on tier, cash flow, and eligibility.

Milestone build (default)

Structure: 40% deposit at signing, then staged payments at design approval and launch.

Best for: Clients who can fund the project in three payments.

Ownership: Full ownership when the final milestone clears.

Example: JMD $200,000 project → JMD $80,000 signing, $60,000 design, $60,000 launch.

Buzprout Flex: build now, pay monthly

Structure: Deposit (typically 40%) + monthly installments over 6 to 18 months, depending on tier.
Plan fee: 10% (6 months), 15% (12 months), or 20% (18 months) on the financed portion only.
Best for: Growth and Systems builds where the client needs the site live before paying in full.
Ownership: Transfers when the plan is complete. Early payoff discount available (5%).
Example: JMD $200,000 Business Website + Systems → JMD $80,000 deposit + ~JMD $11,500/month × 12 months.

Eligibility: Valid ID, business or revenue proof, signed contract, deposit paid before work starts.

Build + Care: lower deposit, bundled support

Structure: 25% deposit + 18 monthly payments that bundle build cost, hosting, and light care.

Best for: Entry-tier sites only, when even a Flex deposit is a stretch.

Not available for: Systems-tier builds.

Example: JMD $80,000 Starter Website → JMD $20,000 deposit + JMD $5,000/month × 18 months.

Ongoing care: monthly fees after launch

The build fee ends at launch. Care continues while the site is in use.

Care is not "charging for free hosting." It is a predictable fee for ownership, updates, security, and reliability especially when bookings or deposits depend on the site.

Website Care tiers

Care Essential: JMD $4,000 to $6,000/month (~USD $25 to $38/month)

Hosting oversight, SSL, backups, uptime checks, security patches, email support (48-hour response).

Edits billed separately. Best for brochure sites that rarely change.

Care Standard: JMD $8,000 to $12,000/month (~USD $50 to $76/month)

Everything in Essential, plus 2 hours of content or design edits per month, WhatsApp support, monthly health report.

Recommended for most active business sites that need regular price or content updates.

Care Plus: JMD $15,000 to $22,000/month (~USD $95 to $140/month)

Everything in Standard, plus 5 edit hours, same-day priority response, quarterly analytics review.

For tourism, campaigns, and teams that need fast turnaround.

Systems retainers (custom software clients)

Business Systems Retainer: JMD $35,000 to $120,000/month

Ongoing fixes, features, monitoring, and predictable development time for custom platforms.

Growth Retainer: JMD $80,000 to $200,000/month

Roadmap features, automation, reports, and a long-term improvement partner.

Why these prices are fair: justification referrers can use

Build fees reflect business value, not page count

A booking site for a salon is not priced like a five-page brochure because it affects revenue operations: appointments, deposits, policies, two locations, and service menus that change. The build creates a system the business depends on.

Caribbean market context

Buzprout prices in JMD with USD equivalents. Ranges sit below what large agencies charge for comparable work, while reflecting real specialist time, design, development, testing, launch, and handoff.

Care is intentionally modest

At JMD $5,000 to $8,000/month, care is roughly 1 to 4 hours of specialist attention per month. It is not an open-ended support contract. One broken booking weekend can cost a salon more than several months of care in lost appointments.

DIY vs partner: when to refer to Buzprout

DIY builders (template sites clients update themselves) work when:

- 1 to 5 pages that rarely change
- No bookings, dashboards, or custom logic
- Budget under ~JMD $30,000/year all-in

Refer to Buzprout when:

- Bookings, payments, or admin tools are needed
 - WhatsApp and spreadsheets are breaking under volume
 - Delivery tracking, portals, or multi-user systems are required
 - The client wants monthly payments instead of one large invoice

Matching referrals to the right tier

Use this quick guide when a client comes through a referrer:

"I just need to be online" → Entry (Starter Website or Landing Page)

"I need bookings / enquiries / the site to help run the business" → Growth (Business Website + Systems)

"I need tracking, dashboards, or software for my team" → Systems (Custom Platform or Logistics Lite)

"The site is live but nobody maintains it" → Care Essential, Standard, or Plus

"We have custom software and keep needing changes" → Business Systems or Growth Retainer

Always ask: What happens if the site breaks before a busy weekend? Who updates prices when they change?

Worked example: The Beauty Refinery JA

This section shows how pricing fits together for a beauty / booking business referred through a partner.

Business profile

- Salon with two locations
- Appointments booked through the website
- Deposits depend on clear, correct instructions on the site
- Service menus and training prices change regularly
- The site is operations, not just marketing

Recommended package

Build: Business Website + Systems (Growth tier)

Range: JMD $120,000 to $280,000

Timeline: 3 to 6 weeks

Includes: Professional site, booking flow, mobile experience, analytics, and setup aligned to how the salon sells services.

Firm quote depends on final page count, booking complexity, content readiness, and integrations. Referrers should quote the range until Buzprout completes a discovery call.

Care (lean Essential package): JMD $5,000/month

Sits within the published Care Essential band (JMD $4,000 to $6,000) but sized for a booking-dependent salon, not a static brochure:

- Uptime and security monitoring
- Booking-flow checks end to end
- Reasonable monthly updates: prices, services, hours, policies, locations
- A dedicated contact when something breaks
- Oversight of hosting, database, and domain health

If the salon needs faster turnaround or more monthly changes, step up to Care Standard (JMD $8,000 to $12,000/month).

What the client pays over time (illustrative)

Option A: Milestone build + care

- Build: e.g. JMD $180,000 (firm quote after discovery) paid in three milestones
- Care: JMD $5,000/month starting after launch
- Infrastructure: domain, hosting, database. Low at first; may grow with usage (client-owned or at cost)

Option B: Flex build + care

- Build: deposit + monthly installments over up to 12 months (Growth tier)
- Care: JMD $5,000/month from launch (separate from Flex payments)

Year-one picture (example, JMD $180,000 build + $5,000/month care):

Build JMD $180,000 + Care JMD $60,000 = JMD $240,000 in year one, before any infrastructure upgrades.

That is modest for a live booking system that protects weekend revenue, and far less than repeated emergency fixes plus lost appointments.

Why the referrer can stand behind this

The build creates the booking site. The monthly care keeps it accurate and working: prices, hours, deposits, and the book flow. Platform hosting is separate and still needs someone to manage it. At JMD $5,000/month, care is a light retainer, not agency overhead. Without it, every fix is a separate bill and the site drifts from what the salon actually charges.

What clients pay separately (not in build or care)

Be clear that these are additional and help explain why "cheap hosting" does not mean "cheap everything":

- Domain registration and renewal
 - Hosting or database plan upgrades as traffic and data grow
 - Paid messaging or SMS credits
 - Photography, copywriting, or branding beyond scope
 - Advertising and SEO campaigns
 - New major features (card payments, staff dashboards, SMS automation)
 - Emergency after-hours work outside agreed care hours

What is not included in standard care

To keep monthly fees fair and predictable:

- Full redesign or rebrand
 - New major features scoped as separate projects
 - Unlimited content changes (Care Standard/Plus add formal edit hours for higher volume)
 - Third-party platform invoices, at cost or paid directly by the client

Short scripts for referrers

When introducing Buzprout

Buzprout builds technology that helps Caribbean businesses grow, websites, booking systems, and custom tools. They quote firm prices after a free call. Published ranges are starting points.

When a client pushes on price

The build is a one-time investment to create something the business runs on. Care is a small monthly fee to keep it working. It is not server rent. Nothing is truly free: you pay in money, your time, or lost bookings when the site breaks or prices go stale.

When explaining build vs care

Build fee = create and launch. Monthly care = keep it live, secure, and accurate. Hosting and database costs are separate categories that still need management.

When referring a beauty / booking client like Beauty Refinery

Expect Growth-tier build (roughly JMD $120,000 to $280,000 depending on scope) plus about JMD $5,000/month care after launch. That care covers booking checks, price updates, and someone to call when the site fails before a busy weekend.

Referral process

1. Referrer shares this guide or the relevant section with the client or biller.
2. Client books a free discovery call via buzprout.vercel.app or direct contact.
3. Buzprout confirms outcome, scope, and firm quote.
4. Client chooses Milestone, Flex, or Build + Care (if eligible).
5. Care is agreed before or at launch. It is not treated as optional as optional for booking-dependent businesses.

Referrers are welcome to stay in the loop; client contracts and payments are directly with Buzprout unless otherwise agreed.

Bottom line for referrers

Buzprout prices reflect real business outcomes, not cheap templates.

- Build = create the asset (JMD $25,000 to $2M+ depending on tier)
- Care = keep it reliable (JMD $4,000 to $22,000/month for websites; higher for systems)
- Infrastructure = separate category costs (hosting, database, domain) that still need ownership
- Nothing is free: the only question is whether the client pays in cash, time, or lost opportunity

For booking-dependent businesses like salons, skipping care to save JMD $5,000/month is a false economy. One bad weekend often costs more than a year of care.
